

Operation Flashpoint 2 - Press Release and screenshots

Contributed by 2nd ranger
Friday, 20 May 2005
Last Updated Saturday, 21 May 2005

Bohemia Interactive Studios have posted a press release detailing the features of the sequel to their million-selling tactical combat simulator, Operation Flashpoint. This is the first official information about the game since its development was announced last year.

"

Brought to you by the creators of Operation Flashpoint: offering large-scale game worlds, authentic and extremely detailed modern units, weapons, vehicles and environments, challenging objectives and the most realistic single and multi player computer combat experience to date. The complete simulation package will come with a comprehensive set of tools for the creation of custom content."

The Press Release can be seen here

Check out some extra screenshots here

I think you'll agree; the screenshots are pretty amazing. I'm a huge fan of the original, so I'll be keeping a very close eye on this one.

{mos_smf_discuss:Operation Flashpoint}